Introduction

Indonesia Software Developer Conference 2026 (IDSW 2026) is a non-profit technology event projected to connect 400+ influential developers, tech leaders, and innovators across Indonesia. Organized by PERKODI and veteran community leaders with a proven track record of delivering 12 successful international developer events reaching over 5,000 participants since 2017.

IDSW has now run for two consecutive years, evolving from wide-ranging themes in 2024 to a focused AI edition in 2025. For 2026, we're returning to a broader scope in response to participants who want a more complete view of today's technology landscape.

We are grounding IDSW in its early purpose—talking about many kinds of technology—while placing strong attention on AI as a major force shaping our future. It's a space to think together, learn from each other, and spark ideas inspired by Indonesia's realities.

Highlighted Topics

The IDSW conference 2026 aims to give local developers a clearer view of today's fast-moving technologies and their impact across many areas. The topics will feature real examples and fresh innovations as follows,

IAI Trends and Breakthroughs

Highlights the newest ideas and fast-moving developments that are shaping how AI will be used in the coming years.

Latest Trends in Tech Development

Covers emerging directions in new tools and systems shaping the future of technology.

In-depth Technology Foundations

Explores the core systems and methods behind modern tech for a deeper look at how these tools work.

Strategic Technology Planning

Covers approaches for setting vision, priorities, and future-focused roadmaps across different fields.

Technology's Impact on Society

Focuses on the social, ethical, and cybersecurity questions raised by rapid digital change.
